

Leavin' It All Behind

so much seems to have changed since I looked into your eyes life seems so very strange since we said our last goodbye

you, I'm hopin' to change your mind you'll think of me and you'll find you're leavin' it all behind you, when you've played out the grand design your search will lead to find what you've already left behind nothing seems to make much sense the quest for things and compliments 'cause when you look through the pretense only love is so intense

you, I'm hopin' to change your mind
you'll think of me and you'll find
you're leavin' it all behind
you, when you've played out the grand design
your search will lead to find
what you've already left behind

we had found the key it had set us free it was meant to be for you and me

but you,
you're leavin' it all behind
you're leavin' it all behind
you're leavin' it all behind

so much seems to have changed
since we said our last goodbye

you, I'm hopin' to change your mind
you'll think of me and you'll find
you're leavin' it all behind
you, when you've played out the grand design
your search will lead to find
what you've already left behind you, you're leavin' it all behind

you're leavin' it all behind
you're leavin' it all behind