

What Once Was

while everything crumbles while everything fails when everything crumbles I'll be blowing on sails I moan and grumble and float this boat without a breeze and then up from another stumble I'll add my warm breath to the cold freeze
while everything crumbles

everything's shattered everything's smashed what was whole and precious is broken and cashed
everything's shattered
our best days all passed our future's in tatters the dye's been cast and everything's shattered

what once was
we are all a part of it
what once was

everything's shattered
what once was
we are all a part of it
everything's shattered
what once was
we are all a part of it
everything's shattered